SUPPLEMENTAL/MISC. FINAL OFFICE ACTION

This Supplemental Office action is in response to the Amendment filed on 6-15-04, and the personal interview with Mr. Sachar held on 12-17-04.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 1, 9-24 and 32-46 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Mandler et al. patent (US 5,732,400) in view of the Davis et al patent (US 6,282,522 B1).

The Mandler patent discloses a method, and associated means, of communicating, comprising:

Means for storing a customer's financial information in a supplier computer system between a supplier and a customer (col. 3, lines 39-43), means for beginning an on-line purchase by the customer with a supplier and communicating to a server computer by the customer (col. 4, lines 20-24), means for determining that the customer is an acceptable credit risk for the on-line purchase using the customer's financial information in the supplier computer system and which is based on the off-line transaction (col. 4, lines 24-29), and means for communicating to the customer that the on-pine purchase has been approved, after said determining step determines that the customer is an acceptable credit risk (col. 4, lines 34-42) (Claims 1 and 24);

Means for issuing a bill for the on-line purchase (col. 5, lines 1-5) (Claims 9 and 32);

Means for issuing an electronic bill for the on-line purchase (col. 11, lines 4-13) (Claims 10 and 33);

Art Unit: 3624

Means for transmitting the electronic bill for the on-line purchase by email (col. 11, lines 4-13) (Claims 11 and 34);

Means for notifying said customer by an electronic mail message that said electronic bill is stored at the Internet site (col. 11, lines 4-13 and col. 5, line 60 through col. 6, line 4) (Claims 12, 13, 35 and 36);

Means for issuing a single electronic bill for both the on-line purchase and a lease corresponding to the off-line transaction (col. 11, lines 4-13) (Claims 14 and 37);

Means for printing a paper bill for the on-line purchase, and sending the paper bill to the customer (col. 11, lines 4-13) (Claims 15 and 38);

Means for debiting a pre-registered bank account by an amount corresponding to the online transaction (col. 11, lines 4-13) (Claims 16 and 39);

Means for debiting a pre-registered bank account by an amount corresponding to the online transaction and a payment for the off-line transaction (col. 11, lines 4-13) (Claims 17 and 40);

Means for charging a third party credit card of the customer for the on-line transaction (col. 2, lines 3-14) (Claims 18 and 41);

Means for issuing a paper bill for said transaction if said financial information is not valid (col. 11, lines 4-14) (Claims 19 and 42);

Means for issuing the bill for the on-line purchase according to a predetermined billing cycle which is greater than one day (col. 2, lines 47-50) (Claims 20 and 43);

Means for issuing a single bill for plural transactions occurring over a time period (col. 5, lines 6-17) (Claims 21 and 44); and

Art Unit: 3624

Means for purchasing a product through the on-line purchase, the product being different from a product obtained through the off-line transaction (col. 5, lines 6-17) (Claims 22 and 45); and Means for purchasing the product through the on-line purchase which is for use with the product obtained through the off-line transaction (col. 5, lines 6-17) (Claims 23 and 46).

The Mandler patent lacks the information is based on an off-line transaction (claims 1 and 24).

The Davis patent teaches information gathered from an off-line transaction (D - col. 9, lines 1-14).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the Mandler patent with the teachings of the Davis patent so as to provide a system that is more encompassing and capable of using various types of information therein.

Claims 2-8 and 25-31 remain and are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the Mandler et al. patent in view of the Bennett et al. patent application (US 2001/0039516 A1) and further in view of the Lussi patent application (US 2002/0065754 A1).

The Mandler patent discloses a method, and associated means, of communicating, comprising means for storing the customer's financial information based on a lease of an image forming device including that of a copier and a facsimile machine and up-to-date payments on the lease (col. 3, lines 39-43 and col. 4, lines 29-42) (Claims 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29) and 30). Mandler discloses storing financial information based on a persons credit history, which inherently includes various types of goods and leases. Although Mandler doesn't specifically disclose a lease for an image forming device such as a copier and a facsimile machine, the Examiner reaffirms her taking of Official Notice that such goods would fall within the purview of the type of goods covered in standard credit reports which are used as a basis for the credit analysis in Mandler, especially for businesses. Also, the Bennett reference discloses that leases are viable financing (credit) information as evidenced wherein it states, "to obtain financing parameter information regarding one or more financing vehicles (such as, for example, loans, revolving credit, leases, etc." (Bennett, paragraph [0016]). And the Lussi patent discloses that it is common to "lease or buy bulk items, such as phone systems, furniture, copy machines, construction office of office space, etc." Hence, it is would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have modified the Mandler patent to include the teachings of the Bennett and Lussi patent so as to provide an true and accurate credit history of the user buy including any leases they may have.

The Mandler patent discloses a method, and associated means, of communicating, comprising means for communicating that the on-line purchase which is a purchase of supplies for an image forming device which has been obtained through the off-line transaction has been approved (col. 4, lines 29-42) (Claims 8 and 31). Mandler discloses communicating the transaction approval, just not that it was for the purchase of supplies for an image forming device. The types of goods purchased are merely descriptive, and since Mandler pertains to any type of goods purchases, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have included the purchase of supplies for an image forming device within the type of goods purchased in the Mandler invention. The Examiner takes Official Notice that the specific types of goods in the present application are a foreseeable good as anticipated by Mandler.

Response to Arguments

Applicant interviewed the present application on 12-17-04 and there was great discussion directed to the step of storing information that was based on an off-line transaction. Since the present application was final, and an advisory action was issued. The Examiner agreed to reopen prosecution and give further consideration to this aspect of the claimed invention. In doing so, the Davis reference was discovered and cited herein teaching that information gathered from an off-line transaction is known in the art. As such, the claims remain finally rejected.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3624
